4-H YOUTH DEVELOPMENT NEWSLETTER

APRIL 2025

Kentucky 4-H Summit

Campbell County was represented by three youth at 4-H Summit, a leadership conference for middle schoolers held at Lake Cumberland 4-H Camp. The C7/C8 Area was represented by youth from Campbell, Boone, and Gallatin counties. Campbell County attendees were Graham Gilbert, Seamus Gilbert, and Leah Redden. This program has been specifically designed for 6th, 7th, and 8th graders. It offers the chance for young people to learn about opportunities provided through 4-H while developing friendships, leadership skills, and communication skills that will benefit them as they explore their strengths and interests. 4-H'ers who attend 4-H Summit say they feel more confident in their leadership and communication skills. A major benefit of 4-H Summit is the confidence instilled in middle schoolers to return to their community and find ways to become leaders and share their new skills with others. Youth were surveyed on their confidence in taking what they learned at 4-H Summit and applying it in activities at 4-H, school, church, or other organizations in their community. As a result of 4-H Summit, many reported they wanted to return home and step up as a leader in their community. It was a great weekend of Positive Youth Development and building great young leaders!

Together We Grow: Youth Art Contest

In celebration of National Agriculture Week, the University of Kentucky Cooperative Extension Offices are excited to invite youth from our communities to participate in a fun and creative art contest! This contest is a wonderful opportunity for young artists to showcase their creativity while learning about the important agriculture commodities that are represented in their county. Each participant will receive a coloring page that features various local commodities, with plenty of space to add their own personal touch and imagination.

We can't wait to see how you bring our local agriculture commodities to life through art. Once completed, colored entries must be returned to your local county extension office and county winners will be selected. Winning artwork from each county will be scanned and submitted to the state 4-H office. Winning entries will be featured on a special map of Kentucky at the 2025 Kentucky State Fair.

The deadline for Campbell County entries to be turned in is April 25th.

THIS MONTH'S TOPIC

READY, SET, PLAY!

The weather is warming up, the sun is shining more, and the days are getting longer. Spring is finally here! It can be hard to enjoy being outside when it is cold or dreary. So, take advantage of nice weather and sunshine to get outside and play!

Did you know that kids need to play outside? Your brain and body need to play and be outdoors to grow and work best. Many of your favorite reasons for liking to play are also why play is so good for you!

When you play, you get to make your own choices and decisions. The games you choose, the toys you pick to play with, and how you use your imagination help your brain get stronger.

Your body needs to move. Playing outside

Sunlight gives our bodies vitamin D, and fresh air is good for our lungs and brain.

lets you decide how to move it. Maybe you like to race with your friends, jump across rocks, or learn how to do a cartwheel. All these are good for your muscles and bones! Our muscles and bones get stronger when we use them, and play lets you use your body in fun ways.

It is also good to play outside. Sunlight gives our bodies vitamin D, and fresh air is good for our lungs and brain. Not to mention, being outside often helps us feel happier and less stressed. If you feel down or sad, try going outside and moving your body. You will likely feel at least a little better.

Here are some ideas of ways to play outside:

- Go on a nature treasure hunt: Look around your yard or neighborhood for unusual items. Can you find a very shiny rock? Or what about a flower in a color different from all the others? What about a leaf that is much bigger than the rest? Can you find animal footprints?

Or sticks in the shape of the letters of your name? You might have to pay attention!

- Create an obstacle course: Look for items in your yard, garage, or toys that you can use to make an obstacle course. Make a starting point and finish line. Put items in between them that you will have to jump over, crawl under or through, dodge around, or climb. Once you have made your course, have a grown-up or friend time you to see how long it takes you to finish the course. Then, try to beat your own time!
- Pretend you are on an adventure: Think about your favorite book or movie and try to re-create it! It is OK if you do not have all the costumes or props. Get creative and think about what you have that you could use instead! If you need more characters, ask your siblings, friends, or neighbors to play, too!
